If I go it may hurt the chief....besides I have a campaign meeting at my house at 5.....we have a much better organization than anybody knows about....we didn't get 400 signatures not knowing how to do this :) We just wanna sneak up on MB...

you guys should definately go though.....get under his skin.....make him be his usual loud self while the media is watching...

There will be no opportunity to speak at tonight's meeting but some of us are going just to show support(and to irritate that little bastard MB)

Any chance you want to go just for 5 minutes?

I spoke to the Chief today and urged her to wait at least 4 more weeks.....I am on the primary ballot and my door to door has convinced me Mike may be in for a big big BIG surprise.

I hope the chief will stay on and I think she will after the conversation I had with her.

It is time to turn up the heat on Mike. Lets toss this stinking bully!!

let Mike B and his cohorts force Chief Ackley out of her job?

I can assure you that is what is going to happen at tonight's special meeting.

If nothing else, the meeting is open to the public at least at the start and we should be there to let others know that we are not crazy about anyone using his position to set up the city the way he thinks it should be.

If he can do this behind the scenes, imagine...
